Differences Between Priest & Brothers

Question: What's the difference between priests and brothers, friars, etc.?

Answer: The distinctions titles and categories used for priests and the male members of religious communities can be confusing, especially since the categories can sometimes be intertwined as a man can be both a priest and a monk, or a brother and a friar. So, to help to piece the puzzle together, it's important to begin by noting some basic distinctions:

The distinction between priests (who are ordained for sacramental ministry) and brothers (who are non-ordained members of religious communities and who are committed to lives of prayer and service).

Priests: A priest is a man who has been ordained for sacramental ministry and these fall into two categories: A) Diocesan (or Secular) Priests can either be attached to a diocese and who serve under a bishop. Their ministry is usually oriented toward pastoral service. B) Religious Priests are members of religious communities (like the Franciscans, Jesuits, Salvatorians, or Carmelites) and their lives are guided by the special mission and charism of their community. While both kinds of priest practice sacramental ministry, their spirituality and how they live out their priesthood can be very different.

Brothers: Brothers are non-ordained members of religious communities (such as those mentioned above) who live lives committed to prayer and service. Religious priests and brothers serve together in their communities and their ministries include much more than the care of parishes.

Monks, Friars, and Canons: These are broad categories that include religious priests and brothers, and each of these is connected to specific ways of life and spiritualities. ©LPi

From the Desk of Fr. Peter

Peace and grace to you all!

In the first reading, the Israelites' physical fatigue and thirst reveals the deeper level of their spiritual aridity and lack of faith. This happens even though God has been providing everything that they need in a unique and powerful way. Moses is frustrated with their hardness of heart and their constant doubting, bickering and complaining rather than trusting in God. Change is not easy.

In the Gospel story, Jesus encounters the Samaritan woman and surprises her in a special way. She carries an empty jar to the well each day to satisfy her bodily thirst. But in the encounter with Jesus, it becomes clear that the empty jar also represents her spiritual emptiness. What she thirsts for spiritually is grace and mercy from God. She has had a hard life and she longs for intimacy and fulfillment. She comes to the well at mid-day to avoid the scorn and ridicule of the other townspeople. She quickly discovers that Jesus doesn't treat her the way other people do. He is kind and understanding toward her. He knows her whole life story with the bad decisions, the embarrassing failures, the mistakes, the losses and the pain. Instead of ridicule and rejection, Jesus offers her a remedy. For her part, she has only to put her faith and trust in him. Her response is to leave the jar behind—her emptiness, pain and spiritual thirst. As she leaves, something has already begun springing up inside of her, it is faith! She believes in Jesus' love, understanding and care for her! The wellspring within her is the grace and mercy of God flowing upon her life through baptism. We come to realize that Jesus came to the well on that day and at that hour to satisfy the longing that she had for God and to save her from her sins. Jesus came to the well thirsting too. He was thirsting for her faith and trust. We are reminded of our own thirst for God and God's thirst for our faith and trust in him! This is a change that brings joy. We are also reminded that baptism has brought us into the life-giving waters of grace that flow from God's faithful love and mercy through Jesus. May God continue to fill you with the life-giving water of divine grace!+++ Fr. Peter
