Is Gossip a Sin?

Question: Is gossip a mortal sin?

Answer: To really ask this question, we must consider the Eighth Commandment: "You shall not bear false witness."

In its reflections on this commandment, The Catechism of the Catholic Church invites us to not only think about what bearing "false witness" means, but to also consider how we understand the truth and how we communicate more broadly. This is why so much of this section of the Catechism has to do with the gift of language. With this in mind, we will notice that the word "gossip" isn't used by the Catechism. Instead, we find the words "detraction" and "calumny," which are actually two forms that gossip can take, and both can be quite serious.

First, detraction is the of revealing "another's faults and failings to persons who did not know them," without morally valid reasons. Calumny, by extension, is saying something about another person that is untrue, and it is sinful because it "harms the reputation of others and gives occasion for false judgments" (see no. 2477).

In all of our communication, we have to always recognize that we have a moral obligation to the truth and to always work to protect the reputation and honor of our neighbors (see no. 2479).

Gossip can, in fact, prove to be a very serious sin. After all, the Catechism reminds us: "No one is bound to reveal the truth to someone who does not have the right to know it" (no. 2489). When we have gossiped, especially if we are aware we have damaged another person's good name or reputation, we want to make every effort to undo the damage we have done, including seeking the grace and forgiveness offered in the Sacrament of Reconciliation. ©LPi

From the Desk of Fr. Peter

May the joyful light of the resurrection lift you up!

Easter season is an amazing time of grace and transformation for the Church around the world. As we progress through the season, we learn more about Jesus and our relationship with God in him. Last weekend Jesus described himself as the Good Shepherd because he leads, protects and provides for all our needs. This image was a favorite among early Christians because it spoke of the Church's dependency on God and God's ever-present care for all his people. Culturally they understood the symbiotic relationship that it presented. This weekend, we hear Jesus describe our connection and dependency on God in another image from nature: the Vine and the Branches! Jesus is an amazing teacher!

Jesus' message is clear and easy to grasp. God is the source of all life, love, knowledge, truth, peace, and all things that we recognize as good. God is life-giving! Being connected to God is life and not being connected to God is not life; it is death. This image from Jesus is open to a variety of ways of understanding how greatly everyone and everything needs God. For us whom God identifies as his own people, a holy nation, a priestly and prophetic people, the image of the vine and the branch reminds us of who we are and how greatly we depend on the community of believers and the sacraments of the Church. Baptism grafts us into the life-flowing sap of the Holy Trinity and fills us with the very life of God in the Holy Spirit. To turn away from that, to choose sin or to remain willfully in a pattern of sinful behavior is to reject the life in Christ that we are called to. Jesus came so that we might have life and have it more abundantly! It is a life of joy-filled hope and salvation. May God enrich you with all that is good!
